PHOTOS WITHOUT COMPLETE CAPTIONS WILL NOT BE USED.

During the recent primary election, members of the Junior League of the Palm Beaches took part in Palm Beach County's Adopt-A-Precinct program, providing staffing to conduct and maintain the integrity of the voting process. Participants included (standing from left) Lynsey Brown, Sarah Elwell, Sarah Cohen, Julie Rudolph, Steffanie Ngo-Hatchie, Ashley Scharber, Sarah Kudisch and (kneeling in front) Ramona Bean. Now in its 80th year, the Junior League of the Palm Beaches is an organization of women committed to promoting volunteerism, developing the potential of women and improving communities through the effective action and leadership of trained volunteers. Fifty-five new Chromebooks were donated through a private donor and Education Foundation of Palm Beach County for students at Achievement Centers for Children & Families. Ready to start learning on their new computer equipment are (from left) Elijah, Asia and Kiana, the children of La'Kenya Dieujuste. [CONTRIBUTED]

Zoe-Renee Gibson (left) and her sister Zara-Tai Gibson, Girl Scouts in Boynton Beach, prepare to join representatives from NextEra Energy, Florida Power & Light Co.'s parent company, for the NEE Renewable Energy STEM Patch program virtual workshop. Guided by industry professionals from the companies, each of the 46 registered Scouts learned about renewable energy and had the option to build a solar-powered car or a wind turbine. FPL partnered with Girl Scouts of Southeast Florida to take their annual workshop virtual amid the COVID-19 pandemic. [CONTRIBUTED BY DONNA GIBSON]

Left: Three Indian River State College students recently received scholarships from the Port St. Lucie Business Women. Celebrating the honor were (from left) scholarship recipients Valerie Delgado and Salina Reeves; Julia Keenan, director of development, IRSC Foundation; Sherri Monds, development coordinator/scholarships, IRSC Foundation; scholarship recipient Emily Phillips; and Donna DeMarchi, president of the Port St. Lucie Business Women.
